Massage and Physical Science Man Arrested in Greensboro

A NEW STATE STATUTE

At Exempts From Examination Only Those Practicing Christian Science. The Oase Will Be Fought in the Courts and Appeal Taken.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) GREENSBORO, N. C., April 10.-What will eventually prove to be a case of farreaching importance and interest to the profession was begun before Mayor Osborne, as a justice of the peace, here yesterday. Dr. Batten, a member of the State Board of Medical Examiners, had warrants executed on A. C. Biggs for practicing as a physician with out having obtained certificate after examination before the Board of Examiners. Biggs came here two weeks ago and advertised as a non-medical physician, using massage and physical culture treatment exclusively. He has a great many patients, and at the trial yesterday the prosecution introduced two of them to establish the fact that he prosecution, represented by Messra

If the case is decided against Biggs, it will mean the complete destruction of nil species of massage, osteopathic or non-drug treatment, except Christian Scientists, in the State. It is said that there are at least one hundred practitioners in the State who will either have to leave or give their treatment free of charge.

One of the most important cases tried at this term of the Federal Court was concluded yesterday evening. George M. Hodgin, a store-keeper and grocer at a distillery in this county, was indicate for permitting a distiller to volate the revenue law. Hodgin is an active Republican politician and a man of good standing, and the extreme vigor of the prosecution against him was generally commented on. The trial lasted for two days, he being very ably defended by Messrs. Bynum, Long and Bradshaw. The jury brought in a verdict of not guilty, which evidently very much shocked Judge Boyd. Hodgin attained prominence two years ago by organizing a society for the promotion of honest administration of the revenue law by store-keepers and gaugers, and the verdict of not guilty is taken as a vindication.

from Salisbury to Spencer.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

SALISBURY, N. C., April 10.—The local owners of the Salisbury Street Railway Company have sold the enterprise to Boston capitalists. Many clitzens believe the new company will complete the line from here to Spencer and have the cars running by the middle of summer. This would be a great advantage to the town, as there is much going and coming between this place and Spencer. The latter place is growing rapidly and property is on a steady increase in value, Many outsiders are investing in real estate in the growing little railroad town; new citizens are included in the second party this, and everything seems to indicate that it is only a matter of a little time united to the arger towns, of this section of the State.

Yung Lu's Death Removes Greatest Power in China Save Empress Dowager.

(By Associated Press.) PEKIN, April 10.-Yung Lu, the Comp roller of Finances, is dead. He had been suffering for some time from dropsy.

Yung Lu was a Manchu, and at the time of the beginning of the "Boxer" outbreak was riceroy of the province of Pe Chi Li and Generalismo of the Chinese army. He was then said to be the most powerful man in China, his initiation being even greater than that of Li Hung Chang. Since the death of the latter, Yung Lu has more than once been represented a sdictating the policy of the Dowager Emperor. (Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
LEESBURG, VA., April 10.—Much interest was manifested in the local option election held on Thursday, the 9th, in Leesburg Magisterial District, which resulted in the defeat of the wets and in victory for the drys. The majority was 26 votes in the district. This district is composed of two precincts-Lucketts and Leesburg. At Lucketts number of votes cast was 109, one excluded. In Leesburg precinct the wote stood: Drys, 198, and wets, 152; at Lucketts-drys, 44; wets, and wets, 152; at Lucketts—drys, 44; wets, 64. The registered vote at Lucketts is 121, and at Leesburg, 593 whites and 82 negroes. This district was the only wet district in the county of Loudoun, and was carried two years ago by a small majority for the advocates of liquor license.

The election passed off quietly, although supporters on both sides worked vigorously for their cause, Some of the most conservative and conscientious men of the community were ranged on each side.

The expected confirmation of the reported sale of the T. C. Williams To-bacco Company, of this city, came yes-terday in the shape of an official statement from the vice-president and chief owner of the company.

As anticipated yesterday, it develops that the sale is not to the Continental Tobacco Company, as at first rumored, but to the British-American Tobacco Company, a combination, as the name suggests, of British and American canithe American, of the United States, came an agreement was made. The chief feaan agreement was made. MAY BE HEADQUARTERS.

It is to this big concern that the T. C. Williams Company goes. In connection with the transfer there arises a question of the purposes of the combination in purchasing it. By many it is believed that the great Richmond concern will be made the basis of the British-American, and that something like a headquarters for the concern will be established here. The T. C. Williams Company controls a vast export trade, and it affords a valuable vantage ground. If it is to be made the foundation stone for the British-American there may be big things in it for Righmond.

The confirmation of the reported sale came through Mr. T. C. Williams, Jr. vice-president of the company.

Mr. Williams stated, in a word, that his company was to be sold to the British-American, and that the deal is about to be closed. Negotiations for the sale have been pending for several days, and a satisfactory issue is expected to follow vory shortly. Overtures were made by the British-American, and the Richmond concern submitted a statement of its assets. An examination of the books is now being made by accountants of the British-American and a report will be made at once. If the statement is verified the purchase will follow immediately.

fied the purchase will follow immediately.

BUYS ALL THE STOCK.

The transfer will of course, be absolute. The British-American purchases all of the stock of the T. C. Williams Company and acquires entire control of it. It is believed generally that there will but alight alteration in the method of conducting the business. To the public at large it will appear much as the same old company. The name will probably remain as it is. The concern will be the T. C. Williams Branch of the British-American Tobacco Company, The personnel of the company will probably be materially changed. It is too early yet, however, to make any statement in connection with this feature of the sale. ately.

Frederick Pennell found the revised copy of the statement. He himself had a copy of the original statement as transcribed from his stenographic notes.

BURDICK'S STATEMENT.

Mr. Coatesworth read it. It was prepared on the Saturday following the murder, and was addressed to the public. In the statement Pennell stated that he had satisfied the district attorney and the police that he had had nothing to do with the Burdick murder.

With reference to his connection with the divorce proceedings he said the living have their lives to live and have greater rights than the dead. He declared that there was no truth in the charges brought against Mrs. Burdick or himself in the complaint. He declared that there was no reason why she should have been driven from home by Burdick; that Burdick ind been intimate with a woman whom he intended to marry, and that it was not until he learned that Mrs. Burdick was to sue him for divorce that he sued for divorce himself.

Pennell declared that Burdick learned of his wife's intention to sue for divorce when he secured her papers from the safe

THE STATEMENT.

THE STATEMENT.

The statement prepared by Pennell before his death is in part as follows:

"Owing to the fact that my name was so unfortunately at this time connected with the pending divorce proceedings, it was forced into great publicity in connection with the tragedy itself. So far as any possible connection with that crime was concerned, I satisfied, I think, the district attorney and his assistants thoroughly that I had nothing to do with it, and since that time neither has my house nor myself been under suspicion or surveillance.

"After being out for a short time in the early part of that evening I spent the rest of it at home, as was shown by the evidence of my wife and the servant girl in our house I in his in a surveillance, and the servant girl in our house I in his in a surveillance of any conception with the crime.

"Being thus apprised of the evidence against him, he deter, ned to anticipate her action by bringing an action himself in order that he might have the appearance of being an injured pasty, and out of the vindictiveness and desire to injure me as much as possible made me a defendant in the action. His allegations would have been squarely met when his death occurred at the hands of some unknown woman, whom he had invited to his house at midnight. Nothing more unfortunate could have occurred for everybody involved, as the entire matter necessarily became public, and if the truth could have appeared the harm would not have been so great; but truth and within arm atternate of coursely and the propose of the country of the could have appeared the harm would not have been so great; but truth and within courseling are at opposite poles. truth could have appeared the harm would not have been so great; but truth and yellow journalism are at opposite poles, and consequently a mass of lies, fiction and imagination were published, which had no possible basis in fact, but for the sake of those most concerned, some of these misrepresentations must be taken up and met.

"Finally it may be said that the crime is as great a mystery to the writer as to any one. Terrible notoripty and publicity has been brought upon people, more especially upon women, who have entirely undeserved it, and great wrong has been done all concerned, especially to the family which has suffered and must suffer most. For that we must thank the spirit of yellow journalism, which does not hesitate to violate every principle of truth, honor, chivalry, juswhich does not nestate to violate are principle, of truth, honor, chivairy, justice and sanctity in their efforts to make news and sell papers, which make that style of journalism one of the sickening things of modern civilization."

have just come to light. The matter was not reported to the police, but extra precutions have been taken to guard the property.

Two years ago an attempt was made to burn the boat shops and the yeacht Constitution, which was being built, and the would-be incendiary was captured and subsequently declared to be insaine. It is thought the present attempts have been due to a similar cause.

Apparently every effort has been made to keep the facts from becoming public. It is said that last Monday the watchman at the shop found some grease-saturated chips on fire in the shop near the yacht. The watchman primptly stopped the fire. Sieps were taken to prevent a recurrence of such an acadent, but on Thursday night another fire was started. The workman are of opinion that the second attempt at least was only a matter of carelessness on the part of some one about the shop.
